

GOSPEL FIRE NEWS

Medical outreach South Sudan 2

Food in times of famine 3

Nothing more beautiful than this 5

One Lord, one faith, one baptism;
one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all.

Ephesians 4 5:6 (NIV)

Corona & missions - how we can move forward in a pandemic 2

Dear friends,

“Let the message resound far and wide,
let mountain and valley echo.
God forgives the sinners of all.
God loves us.”

This song reminds me of my training days when I lived with Hermann and Monika Wolf in Beihingen, Germany. They had so lovingly taken me into their family, along with their four small children. As a missionary's son, I had just finished high school in Kenya. Hermann paved the way for me to do my carpentry training at the Ensslen company in Ebhausen. He was a great role model, every Thursday evening there was “Schtönd” (prayer and Bible study) at Haus Emmaus in Beihingen in the “Flecken”. Where we would sing ‘Let the message resound far and wide’ song from the very well-known German songbook ‘Pfingstjubel’.

As a young man, I had a clear calling into missions, I sang this song and thought to myself. “The day is coming when I will preach this glorious message of JESUS, with great volume and maybe even with the aid of some serious amplification.” It is a dream come true! I have been in evangelism for over 34 years now. In the beginning, it all started with a small set of self-made loudspeakers. What excited and surprised me the most on this journey was the divine echo that comes back when you expect great things from God. I have been allowed to see many glorious decisions for Jesus and to experience many amazing miracles.

Later on in this newsletter, we have the privilege to report on some new miracles that just happened on some of our recent outreaches. Let yourself be inspired and refreshed anew by God!

With warm greetings,
Peter Franz